

Ryan Rogers, Music Educator

Ryan Rogers is a senior in the Moores School of Music (MSM) at the University of Houston, and is currently pursuing a double major in Piano Performance and Choral Music Education. Ryan sings with several performing ensembles, including the San Antonio Chamber Choir, the Houston Bach Society, and Chorus Angelorum. At Moores, he is in the piano studio of Dr. Tali Morgulis, and studied voice with Zachery Averyt. Ryan has also been active as a collaborative pianist, performing for the 2013 Cactus Pear Music Festival Young Artist Program and the 2015 Saarburg International Chamber Music Festival in Saarburg, Germany. At UH, he sings with the award-winning Moores School Concert Chorale under Dr. Betsy Cook Weber, serving as Tenor Section Leader for 2015, including for the ensemble's world championship at the 2015 Grand Prix of Nations in Magdeburg, Germany. Ryan also serves as Director of Floreat, Choral Area Chair for the MSM's National Association for Music Education Executive Board, and sings in two other student-directed cappella ensembles at Moores, Men of Moores and Ardore. In his free time, Ryan enjoys performing with his band, Othello, arranging, and recording his own compositions.
